Re: Click, Inc.

Dear Mr. Weisberg:

It appears that Click is trying to stall us as they have been stalling you, and accordingly we desire to proceed with Court action without further delay.

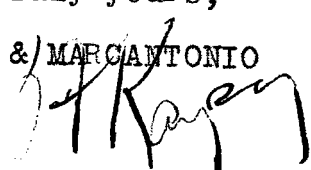

An examination of your correspondence to this office indicates that we do not have sufficient information. May we therefore ask that you kindly draw up a statement indicating the following as to each and every item comprising the total sum of $1,226.09.

The dates when the services were rendered, and how each sum is arrived at. For instance, referring to your letter to us dated March 14th, on page two thereof you have itemized some of the work you did. Please indicate how each of the sums stated therein are arrived at. In addition to the items mentioned on that page, please likewise break down the figure of $81.09. It would also be well if you could possibly forward to us all the correspondence you have had with Click with respect to these items.

As soon as we have received all the foregoing we shall proceed with suit without further delay.

Very truly yours,

PINTO & MARCANTONIO
